

Leigh Crestohl

Leigh has been practising in the area of international arbitration for more than 12 years. He advises clients across a broad range of commercial disputes including: contract claims; shareholder remedies and joint venture agreements; property disputes; international sales and distribution agreements; construction and engineering; intellectual property and banking. He practised several years with a leading Canadian law firm, followed by 7 years in the Paris and London offices of a leading international law firm.

Leigh has experience representing clients in proceedings before arbitration tribunals constituted either ad hoc or under the auspices of leading arbitration institutions. He is a member of the Arbitration Committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and is on its roster of arbitrators.

Languages

English
French
Polish

Education

LLB/BCL (McGill University, 1994)
BA (McGill University, 1990)

Bar Admission(s)

Quebec, 1995
Ontario, 1998
England & Wales (Solicitor), 2005

Membership/Affiliations

London Court of International Arbitration (LCIA) (member)
Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (member)
ICC Canada National Committee (panellist)
Young Canadian Arbitration Practitioners

Areas of Practice

Commercial and Civil Litigation
Intellectual Property & Life Sciences
International and Cross-Border Disputes
International Commercial Arbitration
Investment Disputes
Administrative Law
Judicial Review
Financial Services Regulation