

Raed Fathallah

Raed Fathallah is a Partner with Bredin Prat in Paris, and he specializes in international commercial arbitration and litigation. He regularly serves as counsel in large-scale and complex international arbitration proceedings (ICC, ad-hoc, ICSID, GAFTA and LCIA) in a broad range of industries, with a particular emphasis on disputes relating to Arab and Middle Eastern countries. He has extensive experience in advising on matters both against, and on behalf of, sovereign States and State-owned entities in international arbitration proceedings (including ICSID arbitration) and claims brought under investment treaties.

He also acts as an arbitrator in ad hoc and institutional arbitrations and is nominated on the panels of several arbitrations institutions.

Prior to joining Bredin Prat, Mr. Fathallah practiced with major law firms in New York, Montréal and Lebanon, concentrating mainly on international commercial litigation and arbitration. He obtained his Doctorate in Law (D.Phil) from the University of Oxford where he focused his research on investment treaty and ICSID arbitration and taught courses on public international law and international dispute settlement.

Languages

English
French
Arabic

Education:

New York University School of Law (M.C.J., 1996)
University of Ottawa (L.L.L, 1994)

Bar Admission(s)

Solicitor of England & Wales, 2005
avocat in France, 2007
Québec, 1997

Membership/Affiliations

Young Canadian Arbitration Practitioners
ICC Commission on Arbitration (member)

Areas of Practice

Litigation & Arbitration

Domestic and International Arbitration